Why the Med Safety Mobile App?

Are you a patient, Care provider or a health care professional? you can report the undesired effects of the medicines you are using to the National Drug Authority using the NDA Med Safety Mobile App.
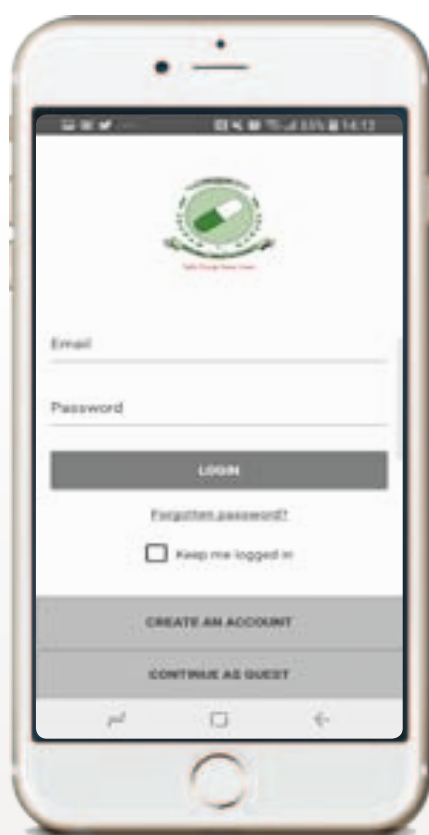

What happens after you report?

Once reports are received at the National Pharmacovigilance Centre of the NDA, there is acknowledgment of receipt of the report. These reports are then reviewed and evaluated by the Pharmacovigilance team to identify potential new risks or a different dimension of known risks related to the suspected drugs in order to come up with measures to minimise the risks. All this is done to make sure only safe drugs are maintained in circulation of the Ugandan population
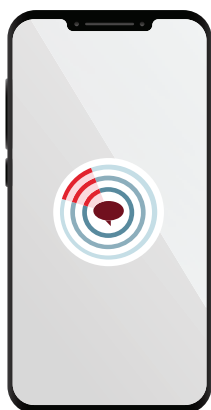

Is it worth it to report?

Yes. Drugs come with an enclosed patient information leaflet on which there's description of the undesired effects of that particular drug, but these drugs also sometimes cause unknown reactions of which some be severe or even fatal. By reporting the patient or the health care professional helps the NDA to identify and therefore carry out investigations of the reported reactions and the suspected causal drugs all this in helping you and I have only the safe drugs.
